Trustee Services

Pensions legislation and rules can be complicated, with lots of changes to keep up to date with. That's where we come in.

We can take away the strain of providing a pension scheme by sharing our specialist technical pensions knowledge with you and liaising with advisers and regulatory authorities on your behalf. Our services are tailored to individual client requirements — providing ongoing technical support or short-term solutions.

Why use RPMI?

Fulfilling the technical aspects of providing a pension scheme is a time consuming business and requires specialist knowledge. Even if you have a dedicated pension resource in your organisation, it is unlikely that they will have the combined knowledge or experience to deal with all technical aspects of the role. RPMI can help, providing the support and knowledge you need.

Our experienced, professionally qualified team have an excellent track record of compliance. Our relationship with regulatory authorities and advisers will ensure your scheme keeps up to date with all relevant changes.

Benefits

- Save time and budgetary resource
- Potential to reduce legal and actuarial fees
- Ease the burden on internal pension resource
- Increase knowledge with access to training, support and regular Technical Update bulletins
